Bring your team to prioritize your most important academic and administrative programs.

OVERVIEW

Many institutions have been operating in a financially unsustainable way for many years. Campus leaders now face critical questions and challenges as they are forced to reduce or restructure their program offerings:

- How can you be sure your institution is ready to begin the prioritization process?
- Which programs are most important to your institution's mission, overall financial health, and competitiveness?
- How do you ensure your institution is stronger as a result of prioritization?

Join Bob Dickeson and Larry Goldstein for an in-depth examination of a proven method for prioritizing academic and administrative programs.

PROGRAM FORMAT AND RESOURCES

This program is based in large part on Bob Dickeson's book, Prioritizing Academic Programs and Services. Included in your registration fee is a complimentary copy of this resource-rich book which can be helpful as a guide to the process and to building buy-in for this effort.

This program is highly focused on the application of these concepts to your specific campus context. The output from the various group activities will be documented and shared out to each participant after the program, so you can take back a range of ideas and solutions that might work for your campus.

FREE PRE-EVENT WEBCAST RECORDING: PRIORITIZING ACADEMIC AND ADMINISTRATIVE PROGRAMS 101

Every attendee will receive free access to this highly rated recording upon conference registration. This webcast explores the basic concepts of academic and administrative program prioritization to ensure an institution's resources are creating the greatest value. Share this resource with your team!

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Given the leadership support required to successfully implement such an effort, we have specially designed this program for teams of institutional executives. Chief financial officer and chief academic officers should consider attending this event as a team. Program prioritization is a data-intensive effort and representatives from institutional research will benefit from attending as well. If your institution is early in the process of considering how prioritization can work for your campus, we encourage your institution's president to attend.

LEARNING OUTCOME

After participating in this conference, you will be able to determine if and how to implement the Dickeson program prioritization model on your campus.

AGENDA

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2015

8:00 - 8:30 a.m.

Registration and Continental Breakfast (included in registration fee)

8:30 - 9:00 a.m.

Welcome, Introductions, and Program Overview

9:00 - 9:45 a.m.

Approaches to Engage Faculty

Faculty are likely to be the greatest source of resistance to program prioritization, but their involvement in and ownership of the process is key to its success. In this opening session we'll tackle the stickiest issue first and explore:

- Who to involve and how—task force participation, information sessions, etc.
- Addressing low trust, low morale, and past planning or prioritization failures
- Shifting from a delegate to trustee mindset
- Minimizing fear and uncertainty and tackling the rumor mill

9:45 - 10:00 a.m.

Break

10:00 - 11:15 a.m.

Essential Elements of Inclusive and Transparent Processes

Most prioritization efforts are derailed due to process and people issues. In this session we'll explore essential elements of inclusive, transparent planning processes including:

- Building a credible task force
- Creating guiding principles
- Designing effective communication systems

11:15 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Assessing Your Readiness for Prioritization

Before undertaking prioritization, institutions should look ahead to determine their capacity to manage a change effort of this scale and importance. In this session you'll assess your readiness in several areas including:

- Communication
- Collaboration
- Trust
- Decision making
- Transparency

12:00 - 1:00 p.m.

Lunch (included in registration fee)

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2015 (CONTINUED)

1:00 - 1:30 p.m.

Reaffirming Institutional Mission

Alignment with institutional mission is a key factor in how you ultimately rank and prioritize programs, but at many campuses, the mission statement does not offer a sufficient grid by which to measure a program against. In this session we'll explore alternative options such as adopting an operational mission or program direction statement for use in prioritization. We'll also have the opportunity to workshop your mission statement to identify strengths and weaknesses relative to this effort.

1:30 - 2:30 p.m.

Defining Programs and Allocating Costs

Defining programs and allocating costs is key to ensuring fair and accurate results, but there are layers of complexities involved—especially when faculty and other resources are shared across programs. In this session we'll explore:

- How to define administrative and academic programs
- Identifying and allocating costs between multiple programs within one administrative or academic department

2:30 - 2:45 p.m.

Break

2:45 - 3:45 p.m.

Selecting Appropriate Criteria

While institutions should adopt or adapt criteria that fit their unique culture and context, Bob Dickeson's research has revealed ten criteria that ensure a comprehensive and balanced analysis of each program. In this session, participants will review:

- 10 criteria—including what they mean and how to measure them
- How different institutions might weight criteria differently
- How to engage faculty and staff to take ownership of the criteria

3:45 - 4:30 p.m.

Weighting the Criteria

Just as programs have different value to an institution, so too do criteria. In this session we'll discuss different and credible approaches for weighting the criteria, and give you an opportunity to create a customized set of weighted criteria for your own institution.

4:30 - 5:30 p.m.

Networking Reception (included in registration fee)

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 2015

8:00 - 8:30 a.m.

Continental Breakfast (included in registration fee)

8:30 - 9:00 a.m.

Day 1 Review and Q&A

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 2015 (CONTINUED)

9:00 - 10:15 a.m.

Unique Considerations for Reviewing Administrative Programs

It is strongly advisable to review both academic and administrative programs concurrently, though administrative programs require a different set of criteria and considerations for prioritization. In this session we will explore unique considerations for reviewing administrative programs including:

- Outsourcing options
- Customer focus
- Technological improvements
- Process streamlining
- Collaboration

10:15 - 10:30 a.m.

Break

10:30 - 11:15 a.m.

Group Activity: Measuring the Criteria

Data is at the heart of prioritization, but as you begin to examine the criteria closely, there are multiple indicators of data that could work for each one. In this interactive session, participants will work together to identify data indicators and sources for each of the ten criteria. This invaluable resource will be captured and shared with you following the program.

11:15 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Implementation Considerations

Successful implementation is key to ensuring that prioritization leaves your institution stronger as a result of decisions that are made and carried out with integrity, care, and respect for all those involved. In this session we'll explore complex issues involved in implementation including:

- Scoring and ranking each program
- Legal and accreditation considerations
- Dealing with staff reallocation
- Working within existing governance structures
- Integrating with parallel planning efforts

12:30 - 1:30 p.m.

Lunch (included in registration fee)

1:30 - 2:30 p.m.

Case Study

In this case study we'll see how one institution successfully completed the process, how they tackled critical issues, and ultimately how they made prioritization work for their campus.

2:30 - 2:45 p.m.

Break

2:45 - 3:30 p.m.

Action Planning

In our final sessions, you will create an action plan that will guide your initial steps when you return to campus. Our program faculty will be available to consult with you one-on-one as you begin to identify initial steps and actions, goals, partners to engage, and resources required.

3:30 - 4:00 p.m.

Final Q&A and Program Wrap-up

INSTRUCTORS

Robert C. Dickeson, President Emeritus, University of Northern Colorado

Robert C. Dickeson provides counsel from multiple leadership perspectives: chair of the governor's cabinets in two states, university president, business CEO, and foundation executive. Dickeson served as the director of the department of administration and chair of the cabinet of Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt; and chief of staff, executive director of the office of state planning and budget, and chair of the cabinet of Colorado Gov. Roy Romer. He served in administrative posts at three universities and was president of the University of Northern Colorado from 1981-91. He served as president and CEO of Noel-Levitz Centers Inc., division president of USA Enterprises Inc., and senior vice president of USA Group Inc., heading the USA Group Foundation. From 2000 to 2005, he was co-founder and senior vice president of Lumina Foundation for Education.

While at Lumina Foundation, he led the national initiative on college costs, based on his monograph, Collision Course: Rising College Costs Threaten America's Future and Require Shared Solutions (Lumina Foundation, 2004). His book, Prioritizing Academic Programs and Services (Jossey-Bass Publishers, 1999, 2010) was based on his extensive consulting experiences including serving several hundred two- and four-year colleges (private and public) and corporations ranging from hospitals to bank holding companies. During 2006, he served as senior policy adviser to the Spellings Commission on the Future of Higher Education.

Larry Goldstein, President, Campus Strategies, LLC

Larry is the president of Campus Strategies, LLC, a higher education management consulting firm. His consulting interests cover a wide range of topics including higher education budgeting, strategic planning, accounting, and finance. He writes and speaks frequently on these topics. He is the author of A Guide to College and University Budgeting: Foundations for Institutional Effectiveness and has co-authored several publications including Presidential Transitions.

Immediately prior to establishing Campus Strategies, LLC, Goldstein served as senior vice president and treasurer of the National Association of College and University Business Officers (NACUBO). He joined NACUBO after spending 20 years in higher education financial administration. In his last campus position, he served as the University of Louisville's chief financial officer. Before that, he held administrative appointments with The University of Chicago, the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, and the University of Virginia.

Dr. Anny Morrobel-Sosa, Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs, Lehman College - City University of New York

Reporting directly to the president, Dr. Morrobel-Sosa serves as chief academic officer of the college and serves as the executive office in the president's absence. Dr. Morrobel-Sosa works closely with the deans of five academic schools (arts and humanities, continuing and professional studies, education, health sciences, human services and nursing, and natural and social sciences), and vice presidents and associate provosts in the offices of enrollment management, academic programs, academic personnel, research and external support, international programs and global partnerships, institutional research, planning and assessment, and the library to promote the college's academic vision across and beyond the campus, and contribute to building the institution's academic reputation and national and international visibility.

A native of the Dominican Republic, Dr. Morrobel-Sosa has held prior faculty and administrative positions at University of Alabama, California Polytechnic State University, Georgia Southern University, and University of Texas at El Paso.
